

Science and Technology Workforce Strategy

SRI designs workforce development strategies that provide regions and states a blueprint for a strong, industry-aligned workforce.

Client-Specific Services

- Identification of skills in demand by regional employers
- Career and opportunity pathway identification for upward mobility
- Curriculum mapping and gap analysis for educational institutions and training programs
- Identification on of chronic worker shortages
- Impact assessment of existing workforce programs and initiatives on labor and wage growth
- Recommendation and evaluation framework development